

Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Thursday 21 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Cold and windy, blustery showers in the north and west.

Today:

Northern and Western Scotland will see scattered showers, these heavy with hail in the north. Elsewhere mainly dry with some sunshine. Feeling much colder than of late in the strong northwesterly winds, gales in the far northeast.

Tonight:

Clear periods and scattered showers, these heaviest and most frequent across the north. Drier in the southeast. Strong northwest winds moderating, but remaining windy across the Northern Isles. Cold.

Friday:

Many places dry, best of the sunshine in the northeast. A few showers continuing across the southwest and the far northeast, mainly along coasts. Less windy. Patchy frost Friday night.

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:

Dry start Saturday but rain spreading east along with coastal southerly gales. Brighter with a few showers on Sunday and Monday, mainly in the west, and becoming milder.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.